

Damaged minds

Teddy Macrander

Damaged minds come out at night
They are the ones who stay awake
Hours searching for a light
Feeling more than they can take

Let it be over I hear them say
You should know I'm not okay
With being alone in this world
It's a place that I don't understand
Beautiful souls they go to waste
And I try to find a way to just save a few
From becoming like me because no one deserves that
But I can't cause I'm stuck in my own head
Stuck in my own head

Getting questions all the time
I'm not able to explain
There is no button to rewind
So, I try to hide the pain